KX 210 TREE SHEAR

The KX 210 is a new kind of tree shear & grapple. This is the result of years of R&D and field use to produce an efficient and lightweight tree shear that can be used for many different applications. Small and mighty, the KX 210 design and use of high-grade steel allows the unit to be lightweight and still extremely robust. The blade can also be removed quite quickly allowing you to have a grapple as well as a shear.
